

Donkey Exhibit and Artist Policy

Thank you for working with us. It is an honor for us at Donkey to be able to show your work. For a good working relationship and to make sure we have the same expectations, it is important that you read over our policy and sign at the bottom. Thank you.

Donkey intends to provide a safe and secure environment and will make reasonable attempts to secure the artists work, equipment, and other goods or possessions on exhibit or stored at Donkey.

However, Donkey cannot insure the replacement cost of the artists work if it were to be damaged or stolen. This is the obligation and responsibility of the artist if it is considered necessary by the artist.

Donkey cannot be held responsible for any damage to any artwork or other goods or possessions on exhibit or in storage by the artist.

Donkey agrees to pay artist 80% of total sales on all artwork and or goods sold by the end of the artists exhibit. Donkey will receive 20% of all artwork sold.

Artwork displayed at Donkey shall remain displayed at Donkey whether sold or unsold until the end of the exhibit.

It is the responsibility of both Donkey and the artist together to make sure all artwork sold at the end of the exhibit be returned to the buyer/ owner of the intended piece of artwork.

By signing this document the artist agrees to all the conditions, terms, and policies stated herein. This document supercedes all other verbal or written agreements between Donkey and the artist.
